

September 1, 2014

Houston Aviator Mike Delcamp has broken ground on his new eight thousand, square foot luxury hangar on Taxiway G Tract 11 in The West Houston Subdivision. The hangar is being designed and built by Realmark whose owner Mark Saldivar just completed a 10,000 square foot Hangar on Tract E8. Mark and wife Courtney are also the design build team for the Aerovillas hangar home subdivision just recently approved for development.

Delcamp is currently the owner of a turbine B-36 Bonanza and is looking to acquire a jet and other aircraft for his arsenal.

The West Houston Airport is a 52 year old private public use airport with some 400 based aircraft and close to 1,000,000 square foot of hangar storage, office and terminal space. The airport is located within the Energy corridor in close proximity to the Galleria and Downtown and it is open 24/7/365.